attention: Mr. J. W. Towne,
San Antonio, Texas.

Gentlemen:

I have your letter of the 14th instant relative to the payment made you on your recent deposit at this institution and have personally investigated the matter of your complaint and find upon receipt here your two bars weighed exactly 12.97 troy ounces which weight was checked at the time as are all deposits received at the Mint. After melting your deposit weighed 12.95 troy ounces or .02 of a troy ounce less than before being melted. This is a very proper and natural loss when melting bullion of the nature deposited by you and I do not believe it could have been melted with a smaller loss.

If in forwarding your bullion to the Mint you had stated you were sending 13 ounces, 6 pennyweights and 8 grains of gold, you would have been promptly notified of the fact that only 12.97 ounces were received and your deposit held without treatment until advised by you to proceed on our weight or such other action taken as you might desire. Your package was received intact and your two bars did not indicate they had been tampered with. Our scales are examined and proper adjustments made each working day by an expert scale man and the weight of your bars as entered here is the full weight they registered when received.

The gold and silver contents are determined only by assay and these determinations are likewise thoroughly checked as are the calculations as to the amount to be paid.

If you feel you are taking any risks whatever in receiving full returns on your deposits at this institution, I would urge you to send them where such returns would more nearly satisfy your ideas in the matter, the employees of this institution being perfectly honest and competent and desirous that depositors receive full payment for bullion purchased, less the treatment charges. Should an error inadvertently occur in any transaction it is cheerfully corrected and to such errors I am always glad to have my attention directed in a respectful manner.

Respectfully,

FRANK E. SHEPARD, Superintendent.

Gentlemen:

Referring to your consignments under date of the 14th instant, please be advised that upon weighing your bars at this institution the following discrepancies have been found between your weight and the weight as found at this Mint:

Invoice No.	Your Weight Troy Ozs.	Mint Weight Troy Ozs.

Mr. Charles Cook,
Silver City, Idaho.

Dear Sir:

I am in receipt of your deposit under date of the 11th instant, which I note you give an express value of $200. and state in your invoice that your material weighs 16 ounces plus. Upon weighing your bar at this institution, I find it weighs exactly 15 troy ounces and I doubt if it will approximate the minimum value of deposits received for purchase which is $100.

I would therefore suggest that you send enough additional material to be added to this bar to give it its proper value in order to be purchased by the Mint, as should I proceed to treat it and find after melting and assaying it that it does not contain the required value, the regulations require that it shall be rejected and a melting charge of $1.00 imposed. It is also necessary that deposits contain at least 200 assay parts out of a possible 1000 of the precious metals, in which respect I am in doubt regarding your deposit.

Please advise me promptly of your wishes in this matter.

Sir:-

Referring to your letter and consignment under date of the 16th instant which latter weighs upon receipt here 4.91 Troy ounces, please be advised that under the present regulations the mint does not receive deposits for purchase which have a value under $100., to meet which requirement it will be necessary for you to send at least as much more material - if of an average of 14 karat - to render your deposit acceptable for purchase.

Should this not be convenient for you, however, your material will be returned you upon receipt of the necessary postage and insurance.

Gentlemen:

I have your consignment under date of the 17th instant, the weight of which including your envelopes is 3.92 troy ounces. In this connection I regret to advise you that the value contained in your deposit is not sufficient to enable me to accept it as all consignments are required to have a value of at least $100.00, while your material likely would not exceed $35.00 in value.

If you are unable to send an additional lot to bring your deposit up to the required amount, this material will be returned you upon receipt of the necessary postage and insurance.

Replying to your letter of the 18th instant, please be advised that since you say your gold is in lime nuggets which also contains silver and aluminum, I doubt if the material you have for sale is really gold. However, if you will send a small sample here for examination, I shall be glad to advise you further.

In this connection I may say that the Mint only accepts deposits which have a value of at least $100.00 and no metals are purchased other than gold and silver.

If you decide to forward a sample of your material here for examination, please enclose the necessary postage for its return to you.

Gentlemen:

I am in receipt of a consignment bearing your label on the outside but to date have not received from you a letter of advice covering this deposit which is necessary before it can be entered on our books and paid for.

I have also to advise that at the present price of silver, your shipment will probably not have a value in excess of $90.00 and under the regulations no deposits are received for purchase which do not have a value of at least $100.

As your material doesnot contain any gold, a small amount of which is required in silver deposits, I would suggest that you make up its deficiency in value by forwarding sufficient gold to be added to this lot in order that it will comply with our requirements as to value and gold content.

Gentlemen:

Replying to your letter of the 20th instant, please be advised that this institution will purchase your old gold, etc., when sent in lots having a minimum value of $100.00, provided the precious metal content will consist of at least 200 assay parts out of a possible 1000.

The Mint also buys sterling silver if it has an appreciable gold content, and if you contemplate forwarding your gold filled ware, I would suggest that you include sufficient sterling silver in order that your deposit will contain enough silver to offset the large amount of base metal contained in filled goods.

The Mint pays $20.67 for each troy ounce of pure gold and the New York market price, less the fraction, for silver which prevails on the day prior to the receipt of deposit.

I am enclosing a circular which will give you further information on this subject.

If you desire, the gold forwarded by you, which you state weighs 13.27 troy ounces, can be accepted as its fineness and value will no doubt meet our requirements. Separate returns on these lots, however, would not be made you unless the filled scrap also has a value of at least $100.00 even after the additional silver has been added thereto.

Lois Mahner,
3207 West 42nd Street,

Dear Madam:

I have your letter of the 24th instant and have to say that the half dollar mentioned by you is what is known as the Oregon Trail Half Dollar, of special design authorized by the Act of Congress of May 17, 1926, to commemorate the heroism of the pioneers who traveled to the far west and to aid in the erection of suitable monuments to commemorate the tragic events associated with that emigration which resulted in adding new states to the Union.

The obverse of the coin bears a likeness of an old-time Conestoga wagon drawn by oxen over the brow of a hill toward the setting sun. The figure of the Indian on the reverse shows his left hand raised as if in warning to those of the east. The Oregon Trail is traced across the map of the United States as a background on this side of the coin, which was designed by Mrs. Laura G. Bremer.

The Act authorized the coinage of not over 6,000,000 of these half dollars but as to how many were actually struck and put in circulation, I am not informed.

The Government does not pay a premium on any coins, nor ever recall them - premiums being paid only by private coin collectors and numismatic dealers. This also answers your question in regard to the 1902 and 1903 one-cent bronze pieces.

The stamp enclosed with your letter is herewith returned.

I am enclosing a circular which may be of some assistance to you in preparing material for shipment to this Mint, from which you will note a letter of advice should accompany all shipments.

Dear Mr. Kimball:

Our Mr. Wells, Superintendent of the Coining Department of this institution, has referred to me your letter of the 23rd instant and accompanying piece of retort which I note you desire to deposit here for sale.

I have had this piece of metal tested and find that it contains 856 assay parts of base metal out of a possible 1000 and under these conditions your metal cannot be accepted for purchase as the regulations require that consignments containing 800 or more parts of base metal shall be rejected.

I regret that I cannot be of assistance to you in this matter and will return your metal to you upon receipt of the necessary postage and insurance, the Mint having no fund from which to pay such expense.

Dear Sir:

I have your letter of the 29th ultimo and in reply have to say that this institution is not equipped to make analyses of mineral bearing rock but from an examination of the material which you sent here it does not appear to contain gold or silver in any commercial quantity.

If you wish to have this rock analyzed, you could send samples to the United States Assay Office at Salt Lake City, Utah, which does work of that kind and assays for gold and silver can be made for you at a charge of $1.00 for gold and $1.00 for silver - money order for the proper amount to accompany your samples.

Dear Sir:

I have a consignment with your name on the outside but to date have received no letter of advice covering this deposit which is necessary before it can be entered on our books and paid for.

I note upon examining this material that it contains a little platinum which the Mint does not purchase nor make any allowance for. I would therefore suggest that you send sufficient postage for the return of this platinum to you.

I have also to advise that while it appears your deposit will contain a value of $100.00, that amount is the minimum received, and if you have any doubt in regard to it containing that much, I would suggest that you send one ounce or more to be added thereto.

Please advise me promptly of your wishes in the matter.

Dear Sir:

Referring to your consignment under date of the 1st instant, consisting of 82.17 troy ounces of filled material, please refer to my letter to you of June 25th in which I stated that material of this nature required one-fourth of its weight in sterling silver in order that the gold and silver content would consist of approximately one-fourth of the weight of the deposit.

Your consignment contains the required value but the silver is necessary to offset the large amount of base metal which your material contains. As you have forwarded approximately six ounces of silver, I would suggest that you send fourteen ounces more.

I am holding your consignment until further advised by you in the matter.

Dear Sir:

I am in receipt of your letter of the 30th ultimo and accompanying consignment, weighing upon receipt here 38.95 troy ounces, which I believe will require the addition of about 8 ounces of sterling silver to offset the excess of base metal contained in your material, it being necessary to reject deposits which contain 600 or more assay parts of base metal out of a possible 1000.

If you have any doubt about your deposit containing a value of $100.00, I would also suggest that you enclose some additional material in order that there may be no doubt as to its meeting our requirement in that respect.

The platinum contained in the small envelope, will have to be returned to you as the Mint does not purchase this metal and this will be done upon the receipt of the necessary postage and insurance. Please advise me promptly if you wish in this matter.

Answering your letter of the 13th instant in reference to Mr. E.S. Felts who was employed as fireman and guard at this institution from February 16th, 1914, to February 15, 1916, I have to say that he was dropped from our rolls, without prejudice, on the latter date because of total disability for work. I am not aware of what pension he receives from the Government, such matters not being in any manner connected with this office.

After leaving the Mint it was my understanding that he made application for entrance into some sanitarium in South Dakota on account of his health. Perhaps Mrs. C. Felts of 3340 Teton Street, this city, could give you further information regarding his present status.

I am in receipt of your recent consignment but to date have not received a letter of advice pertaining thereto which is necessary before your shipment can be entered on our books and paid for.

All deposits to be accepted must have a minimum value of $100 and contain not less than 500 assay parts of the precious metals out of a possible thousand. If your deposit will not meet these requirements, I would suggest that you send such additional material as may be necessary to that end.

Kindly let me hear from you at your earliest convenience.

I have your deposit of recent date but so far have not received from you a letter of advice regarding this shipment which is necessary before your consignment can be entered on our books and paid for.

All deposits to be accepted must contain a value of not less than $100 and have at least 250 assay parts of the precious metals out of a possible 1000. If you have any doubt regarding your deposit meeting these requirements, I would suggest that you send such additional metal as may be necessary.

Mr. Henry E. Sanders,

Dear Sir:

Replying to your letter of the 14th instant, I have to say that I do not believe your black sand would have any commercial value unless it contains some of the precious metals. The Mint does not deal in mineral bearing sand or ore, buying gold and silver in metallic form only in lots having a minimum value of $100.

If you desire an assay made of your sand for gold, silver, etc., such assay can be made for you by the United States Assay Office at Salt Lake City, Utah, at a charge of $1.00 for gold and $1.00 for silver - money order for the proper amount to accompany your sample of which I presume one-half pound would be amply sufficient.

Sir:-

Receipt is acknowledged of your letter of the 16th inst. and also of the package of gold scrap sent by registered mail. After an inspection of your consignment, I am in doubt about its having a value of $100, which is the least that can be accepted, and I would suggest that you send an additional amount to be added to what you have sent, in order that there may be no doubt about the value meeting our requirements. Should I proceed to treat your scrap, and after melting, it is found not to be worth $100, it would be necessary to reject it, and a melting charge of $1.00 would have to be imposed.

If you cannot send the additional amount, your consignment will be returned to you upon receipt of the necessary postage and registry fee.

I am returning herewith, your affidavit covering your consignment No. 219, consisting of 10,000 Mexican gold pesos, and your attention is invited to the fact that it does not state that the gold was purchased from residents of the United States. It is necessary that the affidavit contain such a declaration.

In addition to the present requirements, it will be necessary under recent instructions of the Treasury Department, that the affidavits covering future consignments of Mexican gold, set forth the names and addresses of the persons resident of the United States, when the gold is acquired by you in amounts over $100, and ^{in all cases} also that it was acquired by ^{your} these customers in payment for merchandise or on account of other legitimate commercial transactions.

The above apply only to the receipt of gold from residents of the United States, and does not in any manner alter the requirements concerning gold received from residents of Mexico.

Sir:-

Replying to your letter of the 21st instant, I have to advise you that the only deposits that are received by the Mint, are those containing gold and silver that have been separated from the ore or rocks containing them. Ores and rocks containing the precious metals are not received, no matter what the value may be. When writing my letter to you on the 21st instant, the fact that your consignment consisted of rocks, was not brought to my attention. Had it been, the letter of the 21st would have been similar to the one of the 24th.

As stated in my letter of the 24th instant, your rocks will be returned to you upon receipt of the necessary postage and insurance, or registry fee.

Fort Worth Smelting & Refining Co.,
105 - East 10th Street,
Fort Worth, Texas.

Sirs:

Receipt is acknowledged of your letter of the 24th instant and the consignment mentioned therein.

The three bars of bullion contain approximately 954 parts base, and the bar of slag and metal contains over 800 parts base. As we cannot handle bullion containing over 800 parts of base out of a possible thousand, it will be necessary for you to send at least 40 ounces of good silver to be added to the three bars, and 30 ounces to be added to the bar of slag and metal, or at least 70 ounces in all. If you can send this amount, your consignment can be accepted. If you cannot send the silver, your bullion will be returned to you at your expense. Please advise promptly.

When making shipment to the Mint, you should be certain that it does not contain over 800 parts of base, for should we proceed to treat it, and after melting and assaying, it is found to contain over 800 parts of base, it will be necessary to reject the deposit and impose a melting charge and other charges that may have been incurred up to the time of rejection.

The enclosed circular will give you additional information relative to the receipt of bullion by the Mints.

Respectfully,

Frank E. Shepard, Superintendent.

Referring to your consignment of the 24th instant, I have to advise you that it is too small to be accepted, as the least value we can handle is $100, while the value of the 1.96 troy ounces in your deposit will have a value of about $30. It will require the addition of approximately 4.50 troy ounces to make a net value of $100. If you can send this amount, your consignment can be accepted, but if not, it will be returned upon the receipt of the necessary postage and insurance fee.

Please advise promptly.

First National Bank,
El Paso, Texas.

Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith your affidavit covering your consignment No. 24580 consisting of 10,000 pesos Mexican gold coin, and have to state that under recent instructions from the Treasury Department it is now necessary that affidavits covering consignments of Mexican gold coin set forth the names and address of parties, residents of the United States, when the gold coin is acquired in amounts over $100.00 and also in all cases "It was acquired by your customers in payment for merchandise or on account of other legitimate commercial transactions".

The above additional requirements apply only to the receipt of gold from parties resident in the United States and do not in any manner alter the present requirements concerning gold received from residents of Mexico.

If any of the gold covered by this consignment was received in amounts over $100.00, the names of the parties resident in the United States from whom received should be set forth. If in amounts less than $100.00, your affidavit should state so specifically.

On receipt of the amended affidavit as above, your balance will be entered on our books and paid for promptly.

I am returning herewith Certificate No. 3753 and have to advise that after a careful review of the eligibles thereon, I have decided not to fill the vacancy existing in the guard force at this institution at the present time.

Owing to the fact that the physical qualifications of two of the eligibles (Joseph E. Jordan and Gordon Esther) render them unfit for service as guard and one (Herbert H. Leiter) cannot be found and I am in doubt as to the suitability of the remaining two (Samuel F. Patton and James H. Duncan), one of whom (Samuel F. Patton) has not complied with the Civil Service regulation in regard to notification as to change of address and who is at present located in Sacramento, California, and whose street address I cannot ascertain, I have to say that it appears to me that it will be in the interest of the Government service to call for a new examination for guard, particularly in view of the fact that in addition to the foregoing reasons the present list is over three years old.

As you are aware, it is absolutely necessary to employ only able-bodied and alert men on the guard force at this institution where very large values are stored and I may also say it has been my practice to fill vacancies in the operating departments from the guard in which former place only physically able men can be used.

	Total	$9.82

Gentlemen:

I have your letter of the 6th instant and accompanying consignment of miscellaneous gold material and have to advise that the regulations do not permit the purchase of deposits having a value under $100.00, under which condition your material cannot be accepted.

In regard to the mutilated half dollar, please be advised that mutilated silver coins of the United States are paid for at their bullion value only. Your half dollar under these conditions would be worth about 15¢.

With further reference to your consignment, which would probably not exceed $30.00 in value, I should be glad to have you forward sufficient additional material to meet our requirement as to value as above stated, but if this is not convenient, kindly forward the necessary postage and insurance and your material will be returned to you promptly.

Dear Sir:

Referring to your consignment under date of the 8th instant weighing 48.47 troy ounces, the gold content of which weighs 1.38 troy ounces, please be advised that unless you are sure that the precious metal content of your material will have a value of at least $100.00, I would suggest that you send enough additional material to equal that value as no deposits are received of a less amount.

Should I proceed to treat your consignment as it now stands and find that its value is less than $100.00, it would be necessary for me to reject it and impose a melting charge of $1.00 thereon. Kindly advise me promptly of your wishes in the matter.

Pipestone, Minnesota.

Dear Sir:

I have received a consignment of scrap jewelry from you but have not received a letter of advice concerning it. Such letter is necessary before we can enter your deposit on our books and I would appreciate hearing from you promptly.

This consignment consists of two boxes of gold scrap, weighing 20.76 troy ounces, and one box of filled scrap, weighing 73.82 troy ounces. The first item seems to be of sufficient value and fineness for us to accept but if the filled scrap is added to it, the fineness will be reduced so that there will be more than 600 parts out of a possible 1000 of base metal. If you can send 10 ounces or more of solid silver, there will be over 200 parts of the precious metals and the entire lot can be handled.

If you cannot send this additional material, we can accept the 20.76 ounces, returning the filled scrap to you at your expense. Please advise promptly.

Sirs:-

I am returning herewith your invoice for the 12 varnish brushes covered by my order No. 44, dated August 26, last.

When making out the purchase order, an error was made in describing the brushes, and the item number was given as 6120 (1)(2)(cc) while the price was for item No. 6120 (1)(2)(bb), which is for $1\frac{1}{2}$ " brushes. The brushes received are the $1\frac{1}{2}$ " ones, and they are satisfactory.

Please note that there is not any quantity discount on item 6120 (1)(2)(bb), and that the 10 day discount is $1\frac{1}{2}$ of $1\frac{1}{2}$, instead of $2\frac{1}{2}$. The correct amount would seem to be \$4.01.

Kindly make corrected invoice in duplicate with the original certified, and upon its receipt payment will be made promptly.

You may be interested to know that all gold coins contain their face value in gold and have one-tenth of their weight in copper as an alloy to increase their wearing qualities. Silver coins also contain one-tenth of their weight in alloy copper but they are not worth their face value as the market price of silver fluctuates considerably and, of course, the amount of silver in these coins could not be changed to keep step with such variations.

Nickels contain 75% copper and 25% nickel and the one-cent bronze pieces contain 95% copper, 3% tin and 2% zinc. All silver coins lower than $1.00 are called subsidiary coins and the nickel and one-cent pieces are called minor coins.

I would suggest that you go to your Public Library and consult one of the larger encyclopedias on the subject of coinage and I have no doubt you will be able to gather much useful information therefrom.

Dear Miss Virginia:

I have your letter of the 11th instant requesting information about the manufacture of money and I very much regret to have to say that the Mint does not issue any pamphlets or pictures describing coinage operations and owing to the fact that it is a very long and complicated process, I am unable to give you any adequate information by means of a letter.

You may be interested to know that all gold coins contain their face value in gold and have one-tenth of their weight in copper as an alloy to increase their wearing qualities. Silver coins also contain one-tenth of their weight in alloy copper but they are not worth their face value as the market value of silver fluctuates considerably and, of course, the amount of silver in these coins could not be changed to keep step with such variations.

Nickels contain 75% copper and 25% nickel and the one-cent bronze pieces contain 95% copper, 3% tin and 2% zinc. All silver coins lower than $1.00 are called subsidiary coins and the nickel and one-cent bronze pieces are called minor coins.

All paper money is manufactured at the Bureau of Engraving & Printing at Washington, D.C., and printed on special paper made under supervision of the United States Government.

The employees of the Mints, like those in all other departments and branches of the Government, are paid by moneys appropriated by the National Congress at Washington.

I would suggest that you go to your Public Library and consult one of the larger encyclopedias on the subject of coinage and I have no doubt you will be able to gather much useful information therefrom.

Regretting that I cannot be of greater assistance to you in this matter and wishing you success in your studies, I am

Dear Sir:

I have your letter of the 15th instant and under separate cover your two small vials of material and have to advise that the gold contained in the small vial is not of sufficient value to be accepted for purchase - no deposits being received having a value under $100.

Regarding your question as to why the gold in this vial would not melt, please be advised that there is apparently no reason except that you did not have sufficient heat.

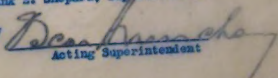

The black particles in vial No. 2 consist of magnetic iron which is practically as heavy as gold. There is no reason, so far as I know, why mercury would not pick up the fine gold contained in the sand provided, of course, the sand contains gold.

Please forward me the necessary postage and insurance for the return of your two vials at your earliest convenience as the Mint is unable to make any allowance therefor.

Dear Sir:

Referring to your consignment under date of the 27th instant, I have to advise that after examining your material it appears you will need about 15 ounces of sterling silver to be added thereto to offset the excessive amount of base metal which your filled spectacle cases and watch cases contain, since it is necessary that deposits not only contain a value of at least $100.00 in the precious metals but no deposit shall contain 600 or more assay parts out of a possible 1000 of base metal.

The weight of your consignment is 172.65 troy ounces, of which 123.53 ounces consist of filled ware which contains very little gold. In this connection I have to advise that in future shipments, all iron springs and similar foreign material should be removed before your consignments are forwarded, as deposits are entered on our books at the weight they are received and if such material is not removed before melting, the weight after melting would indicate a considerable loss in melting. In addition to the fact that it is more or less of an annoyance to have to remove same before sending to the melting room.

I am holding your deposit without treatment until advised by you as to the addition of the 15 ounces of silver to increase

Dear Sir:

Answering your letter of the 27th ultimo, I have to advise that the dime contains nine-tenths of its weight in pure silver and one-tenth alloy copper, its standard weight being 38.53 grains and its standard fineness 900 assay parts silver out of a possible 1000.

As it is impossible to manufacture each dime to weigh exactly 38.53 grains, the law permits a weight tolerance of one and one-half grains over and below the standard weight.

I am enclosing a circular which will give you the weight and fineness of all United States coins.

Respectfully,

Dear Sir:

As requested in your letter of the 29th ultimo, I am enclosing herewith the lease recently forwarded by you to this institution and am returning 5¢ in stamps of the 20¢ received from you, only 15¢ being necessary to register the letter.

I note in your shipment of the 30th ultimo that your deposit No. 3 is valued by you at $50.00 and that you desire a separate return thereon. In this connection, please be advised that all deposits to be received for purchase must have a minimum value of $100.00 and I am therefore holding it until you can send the required amount of gold to be added thereto to give it sufficient value, or indicate what disposition you desire made of it. In the meantime, I will proceed to treat your deposit No. 2 as soon as it has been received. Please advise me promptly.

Dear Sir:

I have your letter of the 30th ultimo in reference to your deposit which has been rejected on account of insufficient value, and note that you have forwarded $60 worth of scrap to be added thereto to bring the value up to the Mint requirements.

Kindly refer to my letter of September 19th in which you will note that it is necessary that the Mint charge of $1.00 must be paid before your deposit can be reentered. I am therefore holding your shipment without treatment until the receipt of this $1.00, when the two lots will be combined.

It is also noted that your shipment was received with express charges collect. The Mint never pays transportation charges and all consignments must be forwarded with such charges prepaid and the express company has been so advised in regard to your deposit.

Dear Sir:

Answering your letter of the 30th ultimo, please be advised that the Mint will purchase old gold when sent in lots having a minimum value of $100.00, provided such gold does not contain 800 or more assay parts of base metal out of a possible 1000. The Mint pays $20.67 for each ounce of pure gold in such deposits.

In this connection, I would call your attention to the fact that plated or filled ware is composed largely of base metal and you should accompany such consignments with sufficient good silver in order that the precious metal content will equal about one-fourth of the weight of the deposit.

I am enclosing a circular which may be of some assistance to you in preparing shipments to this institution.

Dear Sir:

I have your letter of the 1st instant and as requested by you, I am enclosing a copy of your letter of advice which was received inside the canvas bag containing the two kings which weighed upon receipt here 74.09 troy ounces which weight, of course, does not include the sack with the wax seal of the express company. This seal is numbered 2199.

The letter of advice received by mail is in black type, written apparently on the same typewriter and the same ribbon as your letter of the 1st instant, while the letter enclosed in the sack, signed by you, is apparently a carbon copy as the color of the type is bluish in appearance. Your letter of advice received by mail contained the following postscript:

"P.S. Please do not delay this return as before. I am also enclosing a copy of this letter with the shipment."
This postscript does not appear on the letter enclosed in the sack.

I would suggest that you make claim on the express company for such shortage as may be proper between the amount shipped and that received by the Mint.

Your kings and the sack are being held until such time as you may request me to proceed to treat your bullion.

Dear Sir:

In reference to the six buttons forwarded by you on the 21st instant, which weigh upon receipt here 8 troy ounces, please be advised that it does not appear that these buttons will have a value of $100.00 which is the minimum value of deposits received for purchase. If you can send about 2 ounces more I think your material will meet that requirement.

Should I proceed to treat the buttons which you have already sent and find they contain less than $100.00 in value, it would be necessary for me to impose a melting charge of $1.00 and reject your deposit. If you can send the additional gold I shall be glad to have you do so, but in the event this is not convenient, your buttons will be returned you upon receipt of the necessary postage and insurance.

Please advise me promptly of your wishes in the matter.

Dear Sir:

Replying to your inquiry, the Mint can assay your gold filled watch cases at a charge of $3.00 for gold, each sample. I presume you desire to sell these watch cases, in which event I have to advise that such material contains very little gold and a large amount of base metal and it would be necessary for you to send enough good gold or silver to give your material a minimum value of $100.00 and have it contain about one-fourth of its weight in gold and silver.

I am enclosing a circular which may be of some use to you in this matter.

Mr. R. A. Beland,
Concordia, Kansas. Box 207

Dear Sir:

Referring to your recent consignment I have to advise that it has been melted and assayed and found to contain over 800 assay parts of base metal.

In view of the fact that the regulations do not permit acceptance of bullion containing 800 or more assay parts of base metal out of a possible 1000, I am compelled to reject your deposit and impose a melting charge of $1.00 which covers the expense of treatment up to the time of its rejection, which amount you will please send me at your earliest convenience.

Should you desire to reenter this bullion as a deposit, it will be necessary for you to add between 5 and 10 ounces of high grade silver thereto to lower its base metal content, but before this deposit can be reentered, the melting charge above referred to will have to be paid as it cannot be taken from the proceeds of your bullion.

Kindly let us hear from you at your earliest convenience.

Gentlemen:

Referring to your consignment under date of the 20th instant which you state weighs 79.25 ounces with a value of $115.00, please be advised that upon receipt here your material weighs 33.30 troy ounces and appears to contain considerable base metal. Owing to this fact I am doubtful if it will have a value of $100, weighing as it does 14 ounces more than estimated by you.

Should I proceed to treat this deposit and find it has a value under $100.00, ^{or an excess of base metal} the regulations require that it be rejected and our charges imposed for work done up to that time.

I would therefore suggest that you send about 10 ounces of good silver to be added to this consignment in order that there will be no doubt about it having the proper fineness and value.

I am therefore holding your deposit without treatment and will thank you to advise me promptly as to your wishes in the matter.

Re: Henry Feetz Estate

Gentlemen:

Answering your letter of the 23rd instant, I have to advise that the Mint will purchase the old jewelry, gold and silver to which you refer, provided it will have a minimum value of $100.00 and the consignment contains one-fourth of its weight in the precious metals - gold and silver - no other metals being purchased by the Mint.

For each troy ounce of pure gold and Mint will pay $20.67 and the New York market price, less the fraction, for each troy ounce of pure silver.

The Mint imposes a melting charge of $1.00 for deposit of 1000 ounces or fraction thereof and also a nominal treatment charge which varies with the fineness of the deposit.

Should you forward any of this material to the Mint, please prepay transportation charges and accompany your shipment with a letter of advice.

Referring to your letter of the 24th instant, I have to say that while electrolytic copper which has been melted is suitable for alloying gold, the Mint has obtained better results by using copper in the original cathode form as taken from the electrolytic cells without subsequent melting.

Perhaps the Anaconda Copper Company of Butte, Montana, may also be able to supply you with this copper.

First: In addition to the fact that affidavits must be executed by an executive officer of the corporation, it is necessary that he recite therein that he has been duly authorized to offer the gold for sale to the United States Mint, and to warrant title to the gold by the governing body of the corporation;

Second: Affiant must state that the gold has been obtained from the regular customers of the bank who reside within the United States in amounts less than $100.00, and that said customers acquired the gold in payment for merchandise, or on account of other legitimate commercial transactions;

Third: That to the best of the knowledge and belief of the affiant said gold has not been stolen; that the persons from whom the bank acquired the gold had good title thereto, and that no adverse claim has been made to said gold;

Fourth: Affiant must state that the gold is being offered for sale by the bank on its own behalf and not for the account of any other person or persons.

I have your letter of the 27th instant and in reply have to advise that the Mint will purchase old gold and silver when sent in lots having a minimum value of $100.00 and where the base metal content does not approximate four-fifths of the weight of the deposit. The Mint does not purchase platinum nor make any allowance therefor when contained in gold deposits.

The Mint pays $20.67 for each troy ounce of pure gold and the New York market price, less the fraction, which prevails on the day prior to the receipt of the deposit, for silver.

A $1.00 melting charge for each 1000, or fraction, is imposed on each deposit and also a nominal treatment charge which varies according to the fineness of the deposit.

Dear Sir:

Referring to your recent consignment which it was necessary to reject owing to the fact that it did not meet the requirements of this institution and to which was added the additional lot forwarded by you, I have to say that after combining this new lot with your rejected deposit and melting same, I find that the additional material which you forwarded contained so much base metal that your bar now contains considerably over 800 assay parts of base metal and will have to be again rejected and a $1.00 melting charge imposed.

In this connection I think it proper to say that deposits to be acceptable for purchase must not only have a value of $100.00, but practically one-fourth of their weight must be pure gold and silver which I do not think you clearly understand.

If you desire to reenter this bar, it may be done upon the receipt of the $1.00 melting charge in question and the forwarding by you of 15 ounces of good silver which will reduce the base metal content of your bar to the required amount. No gold scrap such as you have forwarded should be sent for addition to this bar as that would again increase its base metal content beyond the limits acceptable.

I have your consignment of recent date, weighing upon receipt here 7.54 troy ounces, and have to advise that inasmuch as deposits containing less than $100.00 in value are rejected and it appears that your consignment may fall slightly below that value, I would suggest that you send a small additional quantity to be added thereto in order that it will comply with the Mint regulations.

Should I proceed to treat your deposit and then find its value under $100.00, it would be necessary for me to impose the Mint charges up to the time of its rejection amounting to $1.00, which expense you could avoid by sending the additional quantity above referred to.

Please advise me promptly of your wishes in the matter.

Respectfully,

Frank E. Shepard, Superintendent

Dear Sir:

I have your letter of the 4th instant and in reply have to state your questions and my answers thereto as follows:

1. What do you pay for the gold and silver content of the crude bullion shipped to you?

Answer: Gold is paid for at the rate of $20.67 for each pure ounce, troy; silver at the New York market price, less the fraction, which prevails on the day prior to the receipt of the deposit. The Mint does not accept gold or silver bearing ore.

2. Will you accept amalgam containing gold and silver?

Answer: No.

3. Will you accept the sludge obtained from the precipitation of gold - and silver bearing cyanide solutions?

Answer: No.

4. By what carrier is bullion, amalgam, etc., shipped?

Answer: As all consignments are forwarded at the risk of the consignee and the regulations require that all deposits must be delivered at the Mint free of all transportation costs, the method of shipment is entirely at the option of the consignee. Deposits not delivered in person by the depositor are usually forwarded by prepaid express or insured parcel post.

5. Will you accept lead or copper bullion with high gold and silver values? If so, do you pay for the lead and copper?

Answer: The Mint will not accept gold or silver deposits with a high lead content. Copper deposits containing at least one-fifth of their weight in pure gold or silver and having a value of at least $100.00 in the precious metals will be accepted. No payment is made for the lead and copper, or any metal other than gold and silver.

I am enclosing a circular which will give you further information on this subject.

Respectfully,

Frank E. Shepard, Superintendent

Gentlemen:

I have your letter and consignment under date of the 4th instant and regret to say that your small deposit, weighing upon receipt here 3.32 troy ounces, cannot be entered upon our books for the reason that the regulations require that all deposits to be acceptable for purchase must have a minimum value of $100.00 which, of course, your shipment would not anywhere near approximate.

Were it not for the fact that the regulations inhibit the acceptance of such small consignments, I should be very glad to treat this material in order to afford you a check on same but under the conditions, I am unable to accept it.

If you desire to send additional material to be added to this lot, I judge it will require at least as much as you have already sent.

Please advise me of your wishes regarding the disposition of this material.

Respectfully,

Frank E. Shepard, Superintendent

Gentlemen:

Replying to your postal card of the 3rd instant, I have to say that it will be satisfactory for you to send the gold filled watchcases for addition to the consignment I am now holding for your account to give it the necessary value, but in view of the fact that gold filled watchcases contain a great deal of base metal and very little gold, their addition alone would probably give your deposit an excess of base metal to obviate which I would suggest that you forward with these watchcases at least one-fourth of their weight in high grade silver. I would also suggest that you forward enough material to give your deposit a value well over $100.00 in order that there may be no doubt about its meeting our requirements in this respect.

Respectfully,

Dear Sir:

I have your note of the 8th instant and in reply have to advise that the design on the Double Eagle coin, or $20 gold piece, is entirely different from the design on the Eagle, or $10 gold piece of 1907 - coins of the different denominations never bearing the same design.

If you desire any of these coins from the Mint, application must be made direct to the Treasurer of the United States at Washington, D. C., in accordance with the instructions contained in the enclosed circular.

Dear Madam:

I have your letter of the 6th instant and the following tokens and coins appear to be the only instances presenting the likenesses of Washington and Lincoln:

Tokens and patterns which present the likeness of Washington:
One-Cent Bronze 1783 - Obverse, Washington and Independence,
One-Cent Bronze 1791-2-3 - Obverse, Washington, President,
One-Cent Bronze 1793 & 5 - Obverse, Bust of Washington,
Halfpenny 1793 - Obverse, Washington, President,
Half Cent 1793 - Obverse, Bust of Washington.

National coinage after the establishment of the Mint at Philadelphia:

One-Cent Bronze 1809, Bust of Abraham Lincoln, Lafayette Dollar 1800 - Obverse, Heads of Washington and Lafayette conjoined.

So far as I am aware the Government has not issued any prints illustrating the coinage of the United States.
